REPORT OF THE COUNCIL FOR 1898.

IN submitting the following Report of the operations of the Prince of Wales's Hospital Fund for London during the second year of its existence, it will be as well to recapitulate the policy adopted by His Royal Highness the President with the advice of the General Council. Briefly, it is to supplement the resources of those hospitals which, while doing good work, are most in need of assistance. The information on which the awards are based was obtained from the Visiting Committee appointed in the summer. This Committee, of which Sir Trevor Lawrence was Chairman, was composed, in almost equal parts, of Surgeons and Physicians of wide experience, and of business men specially acquainted with hospital management. The Committee divided itself into Sub-Committees, to each of which was assigned a group of the hospitals situated within a radius of seven miles from Charing Cross. The Report of the Visiting Committee provided the Distribution Committee with valuable and reliable information as to the needs, condition and system of the various hospitals.

The Report of the Committee appointed to distribute the £1,000 specially subscribed for the maintenance of Convalescent Hospitals by the Trustees of the London Parochial Charities was annexed to the Report of the Special Distribution Committee.

The total sum distributed this year amounted to £32,500. Of this sum £23,200 has been given as annual grants, and the balance as donations. It will be seen that in the majority of cases the grants have been given on certain conditions.

The effect of the action of the Fund will be that, in addition to supplying certain specified needs, the awards for 1898 will enable fifty-seven closed beds to be re-opened. The awards made in 1897 and 1898 have not only re-opened, but will continue to maintain, 242 beds which were previously closed. This in itself is equivalent to building and maintaining another large hospital.

Of the hospitals lying within a radius of seven miles from Charing Cross, almost all of those which applied for grants, in reply to advertisements in the London papers, have been assisted by the Fund.

Not only has material financial help been afforded to the Hospitals of London, and the Convalescent Homes established for the benefit of Londoners, but these Institutions have profited, and will continue to profit, by the inspection carried out and the recommendations made by the Visiting Committee. The governing bodies have had their attention called to defects in accommodation and management, and it may be confidently hoped that such representations may lead to the adoption of the highest standard on the part of all.

The future work of the Fund must evidently depend on its financial condition. With regard to subscriptions there will occur, from time to time, losses from death and other causes. These losses, however, it is hoped, will be made up by new subscriptions. It is difficult to estimate the donations with any approach to certainty. Judging, however, from the experience of the past twelve months, many of the Donors of 1898 will repeat their donations in 1899. In addition to such renewed donations, it is hoped that new contributions will be received from areas of subscription hitherto untouched or imperfectly dealt with; and that the Fund will receive a share of the large amount of legacies bequeathed annually for charitable purposes.

The policy of His Royal Highness the President, with which the Council concur, is not to hoard money unduly by capitalization. In order, however, to ensure the permanent utility of the Fund, the Council are anxious to increase the total invested capital to such an amount as will, with the addition of the Annual Subscriptions, secure a revenue sufficient to carry out in full the intentions indicated by the original letter of the Prince of Wales. With this view every class in the community is being carefully approached. In the opinion of the General Council too small a proportion of the middle and working classes seem to realise the opportunity which the Prince of Wales's Hospital Fund opens to them to contribute, according to their ability, to institutions from which they in their need are entitled to derive benefit. Many subscribe to the Sunday and Saturday Hospital Funds, with which His Royal Highness the President and the General Council are working in cordial harmony. Still there are hundreds of thousands of men and women able to give small sums who subscribe neither directly nor indirectly to the hospitals of London, through the Prince of Wales's, the Sunday or the Saturday Funds, or in any other way whatever. The claims of all these Funds are, by the action of the General Council and their supporters, gradually being brought home to the well-to-do part of the population of London and the suburbs, who have hitherto, for one reason or another, not taken an interest in hospitals. It is hoped that the natural independence of the working classes will induce them to aid in the work by which they, and those dependent on them, profit when suffering from illness or the victims of accidents.

The receipts of the Fund have been much smaller in 1898 than they were in 1897. It was not to be expected that it should be otherwise as the year 1897 was the Jubilee Year and was commemorated with special liberality on the part of the public by gifts of capital as well as contributions to revenue. It could not, therefore, be hoped that during the year 1898 these special gifts would be repeated. The Council trust, however, that the enthusiasm of 1897 will be replaced by steady and continuous support.

Some disappointment on the part of those hospitals which were not included in the distribution made in December 1898 was to be anticipated. To have divided the amount available for distribution among all the London hospitals would have resulted in an insignificant dole being allocated to each. The principle adopted by His Royal Highness on the recommendation of the General Council was simple. Invitation was given, by advertisements in the principal London papers, to all hospitals, which desired to benefit by the distribution, to send in their application, accompanied by certain information. Those hospitals which responded to the advertisement were visited by Sub-Committees of the Visiting Committee. After due and close personal investigation of their needs and merits, a report was submitted to the Distribution Committee, who in due course laid their recommendations before the General Council. Some hospitals were eliminated from the list of beneficiaries because their needs were comparatively small, others for various reasons which commended themselves to the Council. The final award was made after full consideration of all the facts which could be ascertained.

In conclusion, His Royal Highness the President and the General Council desire to tender their sincere thanks to all those who have in various ways given their services to promote the work.

APPENDIX 1.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON DISTRIBUTION.

THE Committee, in presenting their Report, think it desirable to refer briefly to the altered conditions attending the distribution of the Fund this year as compared with last.

Last year time did not admit of the personal visitation of any hospitals, and even inquiry by letter into the circumstances and special needs of the several institutions had to be limited to those which had one hundred or more beds occupied daily on an average taken throughout three years. To most of these chief hospitals annual grants were made out of the income of the Fund, conditional on the amount being used in each case for supplying some special needs, such as the opening of closed wards, the improvement of the accommodation for the nursing staff, the remedying of structural defects, or the relief of serious financial embarrassment. The principal hospitals which received no annual grants were the few whose resources were such that they did not appear to stand in need of special assistance.

Last year there was at the disposal of the Fund a considerable sum which had resulted from the sale of the Hospital Stamps, and it was decided, with the sanction of His Royal Highness, to devote it to special Jubilee donations, following the practice of the Hospital Sunday Fund, both as regards the institutions which should be aided and the amount given in each case.

This year, in the absence of any substantial sum derived from Stamps, the amount available for distribution is much less, being only what may be fairly regarded as the present income of the Fund in the shape of annual contributions and interest on invested capital. The system of distribution, however, has undergone a great improvement.

A large Visiting Committee was appointed in the summer, with the approval of His Royal Highness, consisting of Physicians and Surgeons of wide experience, and about an equal number of laymen specially interested in hospital management. Sir Trevor Lawrence having been elected Chairman, the Committee was divided into Sub-Committees of two or three each, having in every case at least one medical member, and such of the Metropolitan Hospitals concerned as lay within a radius of seven miles of Charing Cross were distributed systematically among the Sub-Committees, and all were submitted to thorough inspection and inquiry. The reports of the various Sub-Committees being then tabulated under appropriate headings, most valuable and reliable information has been placed at the disposal of the Distribution Committee.

Before proposing renewal of the annual grants to the principal hospitals, the Committee made inquiry as to how far the conditions on which they were given had been complied with; and, the answers having proved very satisfactory, we recommend that these annual grants be continued this year and in the same amounts as before, except that, in the present state of the Fund, we do not advise that more than £5,000 be given annually to any hospital. This, however, affects only one institution—Guy's Hospital—which last year received a grant of £6,600.

These annual grants to the principal hospitals absorb £20,450, which, deducted from £31,500, the estimated present income of the Fund, leaves £11,050 available for distribution otherwise. We recommend that this sum be employed for distribution as a rule for donations as distinguished from annual grants. But to this rule we recommend exceptions in certain cases with the view of opening wards now closed. The result will be that fifty-seven beds now unoccupied will come into use during next year; and, if we add the 185 beds re-occupied last year, we have a total of 242 beds made permanently available to the public without payment as one result of the operation of the Fund hitherto. This must in itself be regarded as an immense boon to the suffering poor of the Metropolis.

The Committee recommend that the 100 dozen pints of champagne given by Messrs. Heidsieck be distributed among the hospitals receiving grants approximately in proportion to the number of beds occupied exclusive of pay beds.

The details of the grants and donations recommended for this year are added.

APPENDIX 2.

REPORT OF THE CONVALESCENT HOSPITALS COMMITTEE.

The application of the sum of £1,000, contributed by the Trustees of the London Parochial Charities (City Parochial Foundation) for the maintenance of Convalescent Hospitals, was referred to a Special Committee, having particular relations with the City, together with the Honorary Secretaries and Dr. Freshfield, one of the Trustees. The Committee were bound to consider the qualifications of applicants in respect, first, of their connection with London, and secondly, of their coming fairly within the definition of Convalescent Hospitals. The sum to be distributed not being very large, the Committee have thought it better to allocate it among a limited number in fairly substantial grants, rather than to fritter it away in small sums. The following are the Institutions to which the Committee recommend that grants should be made, with the amounts to be granted to them respectively :—

Metropolitan Convalescent Institution, 32 Sackville Street, Piccadilly, W.	...	...	£ 200
