SECTION I. ANALYSIS OF THE GENERAL FUND INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF 169 HOSPITALS .. 9

SECTION II. STATISTICS OF BED ACCOMMODATION AND PATIENTS OF 169 HOSPITALS 45

PREFATORY NOTE.

The following Summary has been prepared by the King's Fund from the published accounts for 1942 of 169 London Hospitals and from returns made by these Hospitals to the Fund.

The Summary serves many useful purposes and one of its main objects is to provide each Hospital with the figures of other Hospitals as an aid to financial control.

A new grouping has been introduced this year and all Hospitals are now arranged in groups, so that comparisons may be made between Hospitals the work of which is more or less similar.

Section I summarises under their main heads and sub-heads the various items of Income and of Expenditure, as set out on page 4.

SPECIAL NOTES.

Bed Complement.—The complement at many Hospitals has been increased temporarily by the addition of beds for casualties under the Emergency Hospital Scheme. The number of such beds is indicated in a footnote to Table A, Section II, and casualties treated are included in Table B.

Pay Beds.—The separation of Pay Beds (and the Income and Expenditure in connection therewith) from General Ward Beds, commenced in 1939 (1938 figures), is suspended temporarily on account of the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use.

Costs.—Owing to the continued disruption of the work of the Hospitals, it is still not practicable to analyse costs under each main heading of Ordinary Expenditure for In- and Out-patients and Table II of Section II has again been omitted.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section col. 3 on page 46.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12). *

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 47.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 55.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 60.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

† Expenditure on Pay-beds—cols. (13) and (14).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay-bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay-bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

 The differences between the sub-totals for General and Special Hospitals in col. 17, Table A, and the corresponding sub-totals in col. 17, Table B, are due to the inclusion of the whole of the Income and Expenditure of the Seamen's Hospital Society in Table A, Group 2.

* These figures are included in Col. (3) and affect the average duration in Col. (5).

 These figures include confinements and attendances thereon at patients' homes as well as Out-patients and their attendances at the Hospitals. A case of confinement at the patient's home naturally demands many more attendances than are required by an Out-patient seeking advice at an Ante-Natal or Infant Welfare Clinic. The relative proportion of the two classes of cases varies greatly between the different Hospitals and largely accounts for the difference in the average number of attendances per Out-patient in Col. (8).

NOTE.—Some of the above Hospitals also send patients to Branch Hospitals outside London under the Ministry of Health Evacuation Scheme. In most cases the Branch Hospitals are staffed by the London Hospitals, but are under the control of the local County Council and the cost is borne by the Ministry.

SECTION I. ANALYSIS OF THE GENERAL FUND INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF 169 HOSPITALS .. 9

PREFATORY NOTE.

The following Summary has been prepared by the King's Fund from the published accounts for 1943 of 169 London Hospitals and from returns made by these Hospitals to the Fund.

The Summary serves many useful purposes and one of its main objects is to provide each Hospital with the figures of other Hospitals as an aid to financial control.

A new grouping was introduced last year and all Hospitals are now arranged in groups, so that comparisons may be made between Hospitals the work of which is more or less similar.

Section I summarises under their main heads and sub-heads the various items of Income and of Expenditure, as set out on page 4.

SPECIAL NOTES.

Bed Complement.—The complement at many Hospitals has been increased temporarily by the addition of beds for casualties under the Emergency Hospital Scheme. The number of such beds is indicated in a footnote to Table A, Section II, and casualties treated are included in Table B.

Pay Beds.—The separation of Pay Beds (and the Income and Expenditure in connection therewith) from General Ward Beds, commenced in 1939 (1938 figures), is suspended temporarily on account of the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use.

Costs.—Owing to the continued disruption of the work of the Hospitals, it is still not practicable to analyse costs under each main heading of Ordinary Expenditure for In- and Out-patients and Table II of Section II has again been omitted.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

(a) Seamen's Hospital Society.—The Society owns a number of institutions, some of which are shown in this report, whilst others are omitted because they are outside the area of the Fund. The figures of income and of expenditure shown in Table A above (columns 15 and 16) represent the total figures of the Society less such income (£14,644) as is earmarked to those institutions not dealt with in this report. Details of the expenditure will be found in the following tables—Dreadnought, Group 2, Table B, page 13 —£29,166; Albert Dock, Group 4, Table B, page 19—£21,606; Liphook, Group 16, Table B, page 31—£15,340, and Tropical Diseases, Group 30, Table B, page 39—£611.

† Expenditure on Pay Beds—cols. (12) and (13).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay Bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 49.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 51.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 55.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12). *

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

† Expenditure on Pay-beds—cols. (13) and (14).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay-bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay-bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

 The differences between the sub-totals for General and Special Hospitals in col. 17, Table A, and the corresponding sub-totals in col. 17, Table B, are due to the inclusion of the whole of the Income and Expenditure of the Seamen's Hospital Society in Table A, Group 2.

* These figures are included in Col. (3) and affect the average duration in Col. (5).

 These figures include confinements and attendances thereon at patients' homes as well as Out-patients and their attendances at the Hospitals. A case of confinement at the patient's home naturally demands many more attendances than are required by an Out-patient seeking advice at an Ante-Natal or Infant Welfare Clinic. The relative proportion of the two classes of cases varies greatly between the different Hospitals and largely accounts for the difference in the average number of attendances per Out-patient in Col. (8).

NOTE.—Some of the above Hospitals also send patients to Branch Hospitals outside London under the Ministry of Health Evacuation Scheme. In most cases the Branch Hospitals are staffed by the London Hospitals, but are under the control of the local County Council and the cost is borne by the Ministry.

SECTION I. ANALYSIS OF THE GENERAL FUND INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF 167 HOSPITALS .. 9

SECTION II. STATISTICS OF BED ACCOMMODATION AND PATIENTS OF 167 HOSPITALS 45

PREFATORY NOTE.

The following Summary has been prepared by the King's Fund from the published accounts for 1944 of 167 London Hospitals and from returns made by these Hospitals to the Fund.

The Summary serves many useful purposes and one of its main objects is to provide each Hospital with the figures of other Hospitals as an aid to financial control.

A new grouping was introduced in 1943 and all Hospitals are now arranged in groups, so that comparisons may be made between Hospitals the work of which is more or less similar.

Section I summarises under their main heads and sub-heads the various items of Income and of Expenditure, as set out on page 4.

SPECIAL NOTES.

Bed Complement.—The complement at many Hospitals has been increased temporarily by the addition of beds for casualties under the Emergency Hospital Scheme. The number of such beds is indicated in a footnote to Table A, Section II, and casualties treated are included in Table B.

Pay Beds.—The separation of Pay Beds (and the Income and Expenditure in connection therewith) from General Ward Beds, commenced in 1939 (1938 figures), is suspended temporarily on account of the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use.

Costs.—Owing to the continued disruption of the work of the Hospitals, it is still not practicable to analyse costs under each main heading of Ordinary Expenditure for In- and Out-patients and Table II of Section II has again been omitted.

(a) Seamen's Hospital Society.—The Society owns a number of institutions, some of which are shown in this report, whilst others are omitted because they are outside the area of the Fund. The figures of income and of expenditure shown in Table A above (columns 15 and 16) represent the total figures of the Society less such income (£16,920) as is earmarked to those institutions not dealt with in this report. Details of the expenditure will be found in the following tables—Dreadnought, Group 2, Table B, page 13—£30,565; Albert Dock, Group 4, Table B, page 19—£22,814; Liphook, Group 15, Table B, page 31—£16,240, and Tropical Diseases, Group 29, Table B, page 39—£590, whilst the net expenditure (i.e., after deduction of their earmarked income) on institutions outside the area of the Fund, appears in the summary on page 43—£4,537

† Expenditure on Pay Beds—cols. (12) and (13).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay Bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 49.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 56.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 59.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

† Expenditure on Pay-beds—cols. (13) and (14).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay-bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay-bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

 The differences between the sub-totals for General and Special Hospitals in col. 17, Table A, and the corresponding sub-totals in col. 17, Table B, are due to the inclusion of the whole of the Income and Expenditure of the Seamen's Hospital Society in Table A, Group 2. See footnote to page 12

(a) Net Expenditure on institutions not detailed in this Report. This item is added to Table B because it is included (as part of the Society's Hospital expenditure) in the figures of Group 11, in Col. 17 of Table A on page 41. See footnote to page 12.

* These figures are included in Col. (3) and affect the average duration in Col. (5).

 These figures include confinements and attendances thereon at patients' homes as well as Out-patients and their attendances at the Hospitals. A case of confinement at the patient's home naturally demands many more attendances than are required by an Out-patient seeking advice at an Ante-Natal or Infant Welfare Clinic. The relative proportion of the two classes of cases varies greatly between the different Hospitals and largely accounts for the difference in the average number of attendances per Out-patient in Col. (8).

NOTE.—Some of the above Hospitals also send patients to Branch Hospitals outside London under the Ministry of Health Evacuation Scheme. In most cases the Branch Hospitals are staffed by the London Hospitals, but are under the control of the local County Council and the cost is borne by the Ministry.

SECTION I. ANALYSIS OF THE GENERAL FUND INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF 164 HOSPITALS .. 9

SECTION II. STATISTICS OF BED ACCOMMODATION AND PATIENTS OF 164 HOSPITALS 45

PREFATORY NOTE.

The following Summary has been prepared by the King's Fund from the published accounts for 1945 of 164 London Hospitals and from returns made by these Hospitals to the Fund.

The Summary serves many useful purposes and one of its main objects is to provide each Hospital with the figures of other Hospitals as an aid to financial control.

A new grouping was introduced in 1943 and all Hospitals are now arranged in groups, so that comparisons may be made between Hospitals the work of which is more or less similar.

Section I summarises under their main heads and sub-heads the various items of Income and of Expenditure, as set out on page 4.

SPECIAL NOTES.

Bed Complement.—The complement at many Hospitals has been increased temporarily by the addition of beds for casualties under the Emergency Hospital Scheme. The number of such beds is indicated in a footnote to Table A, Section II, and casualties treated are included in Table B.

Pay Beds.—The separation of Pay Beds (and the Income and Expenditure in connection therewith) from General Ward Beds, commenced in 1939 (1938 figures), is suspended temporarily on account of the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use.

Costs.—Owing to the continued disruption of the work of the Hospitals, it is still not practicable to analyse costs under each main heading of Ordinary Expenditure for In- and Out-patients and Table II of Section II has again been omitted.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3 on page 46.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 47.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

(a) Seamen's Hospital Society.—The Society owns a number of institutions, some of which are shown in this report, whilst others are omitted because they are outside the area of the Fund. The figures of income and of expenditure shown in Table A above (columns 15 and 16) represent the total figures of the Society less such income (£17,797) as is earmarked to those institutions not dealt with in this report. Details of the expenditure will be found in the following tables—Dreadnought, Group 2, Table B, page 13 —£39,281 ; Albert Dock, Group 4, Table B, page 19—£23,019 ; Liphook, Group 15, Table B, page 31—£17,139, and Tropical Diseases, Group 28, Table B, page 39—£2,079, whilst the net expenditure (i.e., after deduction of their earmarked income) on institutions outside the area of the Fund, appears in the summary on page 43—£7,483.

† Expenditure on Pay Beds—cols. (12) and (13).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay Bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, page 49.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12).*

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 51.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 56.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 59.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

† Expenditure on Pay-beds—cols. (13) and (14).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay-bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay-bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

 The differences between the sub-totals for General and Special Hospitals in col. 17, Table A, and the corresponding sub-totals in col. 17, Table B, are due to the inclusion of the whole of the Income and Expenditure of the Seamen's Hospital Society in Table A, Group 2. See footnote to page 12

(a) Net Expenditure on institutions not detailed in this Report. This item is added to Table B because it is included (as part of the Society's Hospital expenditure) in the figures of Group 2, in Col. 17 of Table A on page 41. See footnote to page 12.

* These figures are included in Col. (3) and affect the average duration in Col. (5).

 These figures include confinements and attendances thereon at patients' homes as well as Out-patients and their attendances at the Hospitals. A case of confinement at the patient's home naturally demands many more attendances than are required by an Out-patient seeking advice at an Ante-Natal or Infant Welfare Clinic. The relative proportion of the two classes of cases varies greatly between the different Hospitals and largely accounts for the difference in the average number of attendances per Out-patient in Col. (8).

NOTE.—Some of the above Hospitals also send patients to Branch Hospitals outside London under the Ministry of Health Evacuation Scheme. In most cases the Branch Hospitals are staffed by the London Hospitals, but are under the control of the local County Council and the cost is borne by the Ministry.

SECTION I. ANALYSIS OF THE GENERAL FUND INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF 161 HOSPITALS .. 9

SECTION II. STATISTICS OF BED ACCOMMODATION, PATIENTS AND COST OF WORKING OF 161 HOSPITALS 45

PREFATORY NOTE.

The following Summary has been prepared by the King's Fund from the published accounts for 1946 of 161 London Hospitals and from returns made by these Hospitals to the Fund.

The Summary serves many useful purposes and one of its main objects is to provide each Hospital with the figures of other Hospitals as an aid to financial control.

A new grouping was introduced in 1943 and all Hospitals are now arranged in groups, so that comparisons may be made between Hospitals the work of which is more or less similar.

Section I summarises under their main heads and sub-heads the various items of Income and of Expenditure, as set out on page 4.

SPECIAL NOTES.

Pay Beds.—The separation of Pay Beds (and the Income and Expenditure in connection therewith) from General Ward Beds, commenced in 1939 (1938 figures), is suspended temporarily on account of the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use.

Costs.—Owing to the disruption of the work of the Hospitals during the War, it was not practicable to analyse costs under each main heading of Ordinary Expenditure for In- and Out-patients and Table II of Section II was omitted for the years 1940 (1939 figures) to 1946 (1945 figures). The publication of costs was resumed in the Annual Reports of the Hospitals for the year 1946 and Table II is again included in this Summary.

Comparative Figures.—Group Averages for the previous year are not available for Table II of Section II, but comparative Totals and Averages are given in Section I and Table I of Section II. In addition, the Group Totals and Averages for the last complete pre-war year (1938) have been included, to show the effect of the changed conditions on Hospital Finance, Work and Costs.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3 on page 46.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

(a) Seamen's Hospital Society.—The Society owns a number of institutions, some of which are shown in this report, whilst others are omitted because they are outside the area of the Fund. The figures of income and of expenditure shown in Table A above (columns 15 and 16) represent the total figures of the Society less such income (£30,379) as is earmarked to those institutions not dealt with in this report. Details of the expenditure will be found in the following tables—Dreadnought, Group 2, Table B, page 13 —£65,874 ; Albert Dock, Group 4, Table B, page 19—£34,883 ; Liphook, Group 15, Table B, page 31—£21,594, and Tropical Diseases, Group 28, Table B, page 39—£17,873, whilst the net expenditure (i.e., after deduction of their earmarked income) on institutions outside the area of the Fund, appears in the summary on page 43—£2,011.

† Expenditure on Pay Beds—cols. (12) and (13).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay Bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay Bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 52.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

* Net revenue on Invested Property may be obtained by deducting Interest paid (col. 1) from Interest received (col. 12). *

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col.3, on page 66.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 72.
The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

¶ For number of Pay Beds see Section A, col. 3, on page 74.

The fact that a large surplus is shown on the Maintenance Account of a Hospital must not be taken as necessarily implying that normally the income is in excess of the expenditure. The Accounts must be examined to ascertain whether the surplus arises from a special appeal for the General Fund or from exceptionally large donations.

† Expenditure on Pay-beds—cols. (13) and (14).—Owing to the effect of war conditions on Pay-bed accommodation and use, the separation of Pay-bed expenditure generally is impracticable.

 The differences between the sub-totals for General and Special Hospitals in col. 17, Table A, and the corresponding sub-totals in col. 17, Table B, are due to the inclusion of the whole of the Income and Expenditure of the Seamen's Hospital Society in Table A, Group 2. See footnote to page 12

* These figures are included in Col. (3) and affect the average duration in Col. (5).

 These figures include confinements and attendances thereon at patients' homes as well as Out-patients and their attendances at the Hospitals. A case of confinement at the patient's home naturally demands many more attendances than are required by an Out-patient seeking advice at an Ante-Natal or Infant Welfare Clinic. The relative proportion of the two classes of cases varies greatly between the different Hospitals and largely accounts for the difference in the average number of attendances per Out-patient in Col. (8).

NOTE.—Some of the above Hospitals also send patients to Branch Hospitals outside London under the Ministry of Health Evacuation Scheme. In some cases the Branch Hospitals are staffed by the London Hospitals, but are under the control of the local County Council and the cost is borne by the Ministry.
